PROFILE

I am a passionate and dedicated person with a strong work ethic and a pro-active approach to professional challenges. Currently in training as a cabin crew. In my career I have developed skills in communication, listening and problem solving, which has allowed me to grow in different areas and be able to adapt easily to changes. I consider myself capable of working both independently and in a team. I enjoy continuous learning and am always looking for opportunities to grow both personally and professionally. My goal is to contribute meaningfully to the success of any project I am involved in, bringing my energy, skills, and commitment to the table. I don't have experience as a cabin crew yet, but my experience in other jobs (detailed below) has helped me improve and grow and I consider that my abilities are adequate to carry out the work without inconvenients.
